BUILDING FRACTION FOUNDATIONS IN 4TH AND 5TH

www.mixandmath.com

- The Economic System
26. A.C. and 26.0.1.1.2 and 1.3 are sub-categories
- The production possibilities curve
 - What resources inputs are used in production
 - Production method and opportunity cost
 - Factorial opportunity cost
 - What constitutes the production possibility frontier and how do the resources in its production
 - From within a graph in the PPF it shows an increase in the factor of production
- The standard form of function
- How it relates to simplified models and how typical different models... (flow and households)
 - Flows produce goods and services using factors of production: labor, land, capital, technology and knowledge
 - Households own the factors of production and receive the goods and services that the entrepreneurs
 - Entrepreneurs and firms produce for profits, satisfaction
 - Markets for goods and services and markets for the factors of production
 - As the market for goods and services, households are buyers and firms are sellers
 - As the market for the factors of production, households are sellers and firms are the buyers
- Goods and services are produced by the firm, households consume goods and services. The households provide some of factors of production (labor) only and entrepreneurs own capital and technology.

Types of Irony in "The Cask of Amontillado"

Verbal Irony: a contrast between what is said and what is meant

Situational Irony: a contrast between what is expected to happen and what really does happen

Dramatic Irony: a contrast between what the characters know and what the audience knows.

Examples from "The Cask of Amontillado":

 "The Cask of Amontillado" = situational irony - You don't expect Fortunato's looking for a "cask" to lead him to his own "casket." (A special box in which people are buried.)

□ Fortunato = situational irony- Name indicates luck (fortune) but he is not lucky.

□ Carnival Season = situational irony - Should be a time of cheer, not a time for doom and gloom.

□ Fortunato's costume = situational irony - Dressed as a clown/jester to have fun, but he will soon die.

□ Servants = situational irony- Montresor instructs the servants not to leave knowing that they would leave.

□ "You are luckily met." = verbal irony - Fortunato is not lucky at all.

□ "Your Health" = verbal irony - Montresor is making a toast to Fortunato's health knowing that he is going to kill him.

□ Masons = situational irony - Fortunato will soon be "walled up" or encased in the catacombs.

□ "The cough will not kill me." = dramatic irony - We know that Montresor will kill him.

□ Luchesi = verbal irony - Montresor uses the idea of Luchesi tasting the amontillado to make Fortunato jealous so that Fortunato will come with him.
